

Learning to Be On Fire for Life

We have walked a wonderful, beautiful, more intimate journey getting to know more about ourselves during these past eight weeks. This last week we are watching it all come together as we become more and more on fire for life. We are not out dancing in the streets or singing at the top of the mountain exactly, just living our lives one more beautiful moment at a time, recognizing what we can control and what we can let go of. Choosing deliberately to walk a holier more sacred journey into light and love.

“Through those who approach me I will manifest my sacredness; in the sight of all the people I will reveal my glory.” - Leviticus 10:3

What does the word sacred mean to you?

How can you live a more sacred life?

What is one small action that you can take each day to choose to walk in light and love?

What can you do each day to set your soul on fire?
